

Basic Rate Unchanged Compulsory Savings Part Of Personal Income Tax Dropped After June 30th of compulsory savings which were to be deducted from the taxable income of persons in the higher brackets of income. The new law, the minister said, was designed to conserve Canada's limited supply of United States dollars by providing for a compulsory savings plan for persons in the higher brackets of income.

The marked improvement in Canada's economic position with respect to the United States was reflected in the announcement that import restrictions on luxuries imposed in 1940 will be removed Aug. 1.

DESIGNED TO CONSERVE

When imposed under the war exchange conservation act these, like the travel restrictions recently relaxed by order-in-council, were designed to conserve Canada's limited supply of United States dollars by providing for a compulsory savings plan for persons in the higher brackets of income.

Customs tariff changes and removal of the 10 per cent war exchange tax from farm implements are effective immediately. The suspension of compulsory savings becomes effective July 1 and the removal of import prohibitions under the war exchange conservation act becomes effective Aug. 1.

The compulsory savings feature of the income tax has been in effect for just two years. It applied to small and moderate incomes, amounting to a doubling of the normal tax, one-half of which was then refundable with interest after the war. Exemption was granted individuals who made regular voluntary savings such as payments on life insurance or on home mortgages.

Mr. Riley said on the basis of the non-refundable tax Canadian income tax rates were lower than those in the United States, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand. But the combined tax and compulsory savings were higher than the pure tax rates in the United States.

SOME BUDGETS HIT

Large compulsory payments, refundable or not, were bound to affect hardship in some family budgets. Voluntary savings had the virtue of flexibility.

The high rates of income deduction were said to be affecting production as taxpayers did not distinguish between refundable and non-refundable taxes. Mr. Riley said he did not know whether this was an important contributing factor to absenteeism but the need for greater production was immediate and urgent.

Mr. Riley said he regretted to give up a method of borrowing which was as fair as the compulsory saving, but if it discouraged production or created hardship among those whose incomes left little room for adjustment another method would have to be found.

Taxpayers supporting dependent relatives by marriage, children other than their own and including illegitimate children, persons employing housekeepers to support dependent children, separated married persons supporting dependent relatives, persons with heavy medical expenses, the blind, alimony payers, employees getting lump sums, retirement or paying up arrears in pension fund, trade union members contributing to union pension funds are among those who will benefit from adjustments in the impact of income taxes in cases where it has been found to cause hardship.

COMMISSION PROBE

Difficulties encountered by the government in arriving at a fair way of taxing life annuities and in dealing with the combined impact of succession duty and income tax in cases where a large shareholder in a private company with undistributed profits dies are to be reviewed by a royal commission.

Mr. Riley said he hoped to have recommendations based on an investigation for the next budget.

Discussing excess profits and corporation taxes Mr. Riley said: "We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that with the change from war to peace many firms may encounter temporary losses and under our present practice, taxes paid over the period of war and re-adjustment may bear considerably higher rates to the full realized income than those prescribed by law."

"I am particularly concerned for this reason, when the time comes to replace war industries with peace industries, business enterprises should be handicapped in making the necessary changes or profits should be hesitant rather than prompt in action."

The principal change in line with this statement is that following a business firm to charge a loss in any one year back to profits in the previous year or forward for three years.

DOWNWARD ADJUSTMENT

Thus if a firm made a profit of $100,000 in 1943 on part of which it pays excess profits tax at the rate of 100 per cent and then had a loss of $60,000 in 1944 it could have its taxable profits for 1945 adjusted downward to $40,000. Or, if it had profits of $200,000 each in the years 1947, 1948 and 1949, it could spread its $60,000 loss over those three years and have no taxable profits at all in those years.

Because of shortage of labor and materials some firms have been unable to carry on normal maintenance and repair. Because of the postponement of this work profits were inflated and taxed. The budget proposes that half the surplus on maintenance and repair in a period to be fixed may be charged back to fiscal periods ending earlier than 1945.

More generous allowances from taxable income for expenditures on research also are designed to facilitate expansion after the war.

On the basis that the present excess profits tax law discourages new enterprise and that it is desirable to give business some assurance on the rate of taxation for the future, the minister proposed that, in respect of new investment in depreciable assets, taxpayers be allowed a variable rate of accelerated depreciation.

RECOVER PART OF COST

The proposal, he said, would allow a taxpayer to recover part of his investment when earnings were good and still preserve his profit over the life of the investment and also transfer some of the income from the period when war time rates are in effect to a later period.

On tariff policy, Mr. Riley said customs duties in wartime had little influence on the direction of trade or the price of goods, but the government had "the most lively appreciation of the importance of freeing post-war trade not only from wartime restrictions, but from the restrictions imposed in inter-war years."

Canadian officials had conferred with officials of other countries on a wide range of economic matters, including, among others, monetary arrangements, international lending, the control of cartels and monopolies, international co-operation in promoting high levels of employment and commercial policy. Most progress had been made in connection with monetary arrangements.

MUST UNSHAKEN TRADE

"While equal progress has not been made in the much more complex field of commercial policy," he said, "our officials pressed vigorously the need for a bold initiative in the orderly and agreed removal of trade barriers in the world trade."

If, he said, the removal of trade barriers, full employment, adoption of rationing and the progressive abolition of poverty are to become realities, "considerable progress has been made in the definition and solution of the technical problems involved and we shall continue to press at the appropriate time for the rapid development of a broad program."

which will be relinquished by the change.

TAX AS TAX FEATURES

The suspension of the savings plan was the main feature of the budget individual income tax provisions.

OTHER CHANGES RECOMMENDED:

1. In-laws will qualify as dependent relatives for taxation purposes.

2. Allowances for children will be extended to cover not only the taxpayer's own child, but the child of a dependent upon him for support, including illegitimate children.

3. An additional tax credit of $108 will be allowed where a person employs a housekeeper in supporting his dependent child in a self-contained domestic establishment.

CREDIT FOR RELATIVES

4. Married persons separated, but not divorced may claim $150 credit through supporting dependent relatives in a domestic establishment.

5. A deduction from income of alimony payments in lieu of the tax credit now allowed will be granted. At present, a person paying alimony received a tax credit equal to the amount which the person receiving the alimony would pay.

Under the new regulation, the amount paid in alimony will be regarded as taken from the income of the person paying the alimony and added to the income of the person receiving it.

6. The deduction allowed for medical expenses is being broadened to include expenses incurred outside Canada and to allow the taxpayer to claim for any 12-month period ending in the calendar year.

DEDUCTIONS FOR BLIND

7. A deduction of $480 from income is allowed for a blind person as an alternative to the present deduction of $240 on wages of a full-time attendant.

8. Lump sum payments received upon retirement by employees for long service will be spread over five years for income tax purposes.

9. A deduction up to $300 a year will be allowed for conditions it would face in post-war period that the government proposed removing farm machinery tariffs.

SEVEN PER CENT RATE

The effective duty removed is a seven per cent rate under the intermediate tariff which applies to imports from the United States. There is also a 25 per cent rate under the general tariff removed. It applies to countries where Canada has no preferential trade treaties and there are none of these from which imports are imported. Implements already were duty free under the British preferential tariff.

year from income in respect of arrears of contributions by an employee to superannuation or pension funds will be allowed.

10. Contributions to an approved pension fund through trade union dues will be allowed as a deduction from income.

11. The refundable tax will be repaid to persons of more than 65 if incomes are less than $5,000. Refundable taxes generally will be repaid after the war, but the payment will be made to persons in this category after the end of the year in which they reach 65, even if the war is continuing.

COMMISSION PLANNED

12. A royal commission will be appointed to make recommendations on the taxation of life annuities and similar kinds of income and capital gains arising from combined income tax and succession duty in the case of the death of the chief shareholder of a private company with a large earned surplus.

13. The tax credit to encourage prospecting for minerals will be extended to 1944.

14. Interest on taxes not paid when due will be reduced from five to four per cent.

15. Persons authorized to accept deposits will be required to report the interest received to the interest credited to depositors.

16. Assessments will not be required after six years from the date of the original assessment except in cases of fraud and misrepresentation.

SEVERE PENALTIES

Mr. Riley said that in cases where the wife or husband of a taxpayer had an income from investments of more than $600 with are taxed as single persons and this has resulted in "very severe penalties."

There was no concern over cases in which both had substantial incomes. But when a wife's income rose a small amount over $600 the husband was a taxpayer lost the tax credit of $150 and became liable to higher rates imposed on single persons.

Under a system to ease this situation, it is proposed that a husband whose wife has an income exceeding $600 need not be taxed as a single person unless her income is equal to the additional tax resulting from the single status.

CONSIDERS SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Riley gave heed to suggestions that the exceptions from income tax for single persons receiving $600 or less annually, and married persons receiving $1200 or less should be enlarged. He said the most frequent suggestion had been that the respective exemptions should be raised to $750 and $1500 or even higher figures.

"We will relieve a considerable number of present taxpayers from income tax altogether," he said, "but we will reduce total taxes substantially for all others, no matter how large their incomes," said the minister.

"There is a variety of other ways in which taxes could be reduced."

Sales Supervisor

where individual circumstances increase the severity of the deductions from income required under our law," the minister said.

In framing the present law great importance had been attached to the large savings portion to be returned after the war.

"Yet I realize that any large compulsory payments, whether they are refundable or not, will create hardships in the particular circumstances affecting some family budgets," he continued.

"It is the chief virtue of voluntary savings in comparison with compulsory saving that it is more flexible and can be adjusted more readily to fit the particular and changing circumstances of different individuals and families."

WIFE PRODUCTION

It had been represented that the high rates of deduction for income tax purposes had an adverse effect on production, "particularly as many taxpayers apparently do not make any distinction in their minds between refundable and non-refundable taxes, but regard them all as simply taxes." It was not proposed to issue certificates for the refundable portion immediately and this contributed to misunderstanding.

The need for greater uniformity at this time was urgent and immediate.

"Our law moderates the abrupt application of the seven per cent normal rate immediately and in excess of $600 and $1200 by providing that the total tax, including the savings portion, shall not be more than two-thirds of the amount by which the taxable income exceeds $600 or $1200," Mr. Riley said.

"Nevertheless this is a high rate of levy on each extra dollar and though it extends over a limited range of incomes, it is undesirable if it seriously hinders incentive."

CASES OF HANDSHIP

"In the second case we cannot overlook the number of cases of special difficulty and hardship which result from high combined tax and savings rates when the savings rate is as rigid and compulsory as the tax rate."

The rates of pure tax would remain as at present and the country would depend on voluntary savings to replace the proceeds of compulsory savings.

"The refundable feature of our income tax law provided simply a method of borrowing for progressively shorter terms as the war goes on," the minister said.

"With its provision of allowances for contractual savings, it embodied a principle of fairness which I regret to relinquish."

The recommendation was that no deductions for the savings portion be made after the end of June. This will mean that for 1944 as a whole, the liability for compulsory savings will be reduced by one-half, deductions having been made during the first six months. For 1945, the total tax liability will be reduced by the amount of required savings applicable to each taxpayer.

Mr. Riley said the saving was less actually it was greater. Civilian goods continued in short supply, demands from the war fronts were more imperative and overall cash requirements were mounting to new high levels.

The present six days allowed for making an appeal against income tax assessment was considered too short to be fair to members of the armed forces. The recommendation was that the period be extended to one year, or such longer period as the minister of national revenue may allow.

Mr. Riley said a proposed amendment to the income tax law would allow taxes paid to foreign governments to be deducted from the non-refundable portion of the tax rather than the total tax.

ANNUITIES PENALTIES

The treatment of annuities and payments for pension and retirement plans had received much study for income tax purposes. The task was "complicated," and it might be necessary to consider not only the form of the annuity, but also its origin. If the wealthy were to convert their capital into annuities and live on a presumed return of capital, substantial succession duty revenues would be lost.

Another problem was the combined incidence of income tax and succession duties upon the holdings of deceased persons in private corporations with accumulated surplus, when these holdings cannot readily be sold to others and funds must be obtained through transfer of the surplus to the taxpayer's estate.

"I have seen a number of cases where after the payment of income taxes on the lump sum distribution of the surplus the amount left would not be sufficient to pay the succession duties," the minister said.

When a solution for this problem was found, it should be applied to cases now pending.

PLANS COMMISSION

For examination of the cases involved in both annuities and similar plans, and in the unfairly heavy incidence of taxation due to income tax and succession duties, the minister said he proposed the appointment of a commission.

The commission will examine the problems in detail, examine the various types of cases involved, hear evidence if necessary and make recommendations.

"As a consequence, I am expecting that in next year's budget, answers to these difficult basic problems of our income tax can be proposed which will not only appear as reasonable and practical under war conditions, but which may be expected to stand the test of time as well," said Mr. Riley.

REDUCE LIABILITY

The recommendation was that no deductions for the savings portion be made after the end of June. This will mean that for 1944 as a whole, the liability for compulsory savings will be reduced by one-half, deductions having been made during the first six months. For 1945, the total tax liability will be reduced by the amount of required savings applicable to each taxpayer.

LAD INJURED

FLIN FLON, Man. June 27.—(CP)—Joseph Senyk, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Senyk of nearby Cranberry Portage is in hospital here following an explosion of dynamite caps.

The boy lost a thumb and two fingers and suffered face and chest burns when caps he had found in an abandoned mine exploded. Two companions were uninjured.

The French are believed to have been the first to use the balloon in warfare.

Tariff Changes Customs Duty, War Exchange Tax on Farm Implements, Cream Separators Removed

OTTAWA, June 27.—(CP)—Removal of all customs duties and the 10 per cent war exchange tax on agricultural implements and cream separators was announced by finance minister Iley in his budget address last night.

Steps also are being taken, Mr. Iley said, to remove customs duties on materials used in the manufacture of agricultural implements.

Other tariff changes include three new items providing for duty-free entrance of pure bred rabbits of all kinds, equipment for storing and transporting blood plasma and certain chemical preparations.

OTHERS AMENDED
Amendment is made to 64 other items to remove artificial silk from the items affecting artificial silk in which the descriptive phrasing is changed. The tariff items on rubber are widened to include synthetic rubber and the item on string insecticides is widened in scope with a slight reduction in rate.

Duty on glass tubing is reduced, provision is made for the duty-free entrance of high temperature heating elements used in high temperature furnaces.

Items covering machinery, engines, parts, and tools are widened to include parts.

Duty is removed on supplies of war materials for the manufacture of artificial teeth and sutures of all kinds.

CUT TO 50 PER CENT
The nickel chromium content requirement for duty-free entrance of bars and rods for the manufacture of electric resistance wire is reduced from 80 to 50 per cent.

Announcing the changes Mr. Iley also dealt with the government's general tariff policy. As a result of war conditions tariff at present had little effect on foreign trade.

"The cost of our public borrowing operations are very low considering the magnitude of the debt and the number of individual transactions."

"Before any person sells his bonds or presents his certificates for redemption, I would ask him to weigh his real or imagined need for cash against the country's need for its continued support at this critical stage of the war and against the savings, national and personal, which can be realized by the postponement of spending until after the war is over."

"Unnecessary spending at this time is a betrayal of our obligation to the men who are risking their lives and giving in the great battle for world freedom."

Removal Of Tariff On Farm Machines
Said "Surprising"

TORONTO, June 27.—(CP)—Removal in last night's federal budget of all customs duties on farm machinery was described as "surprising" by James S. Duncan, president and general manager of the Massey-Harris Company.

"The bulk of farm machinery imports into Canada consists of tractors and combines," he said. "The farmers here will be benefited by removal of the tariff on sales tax but removal of the tariff will make no difference as far as the tractors are concerned."

Mr. Duncan asserted removal of the tariff would likely be handling the Canadian industry in competition with United States manufacturers.

One Agriculture Minister, L. B. Kennedy said farmers would probably get some implements at a reduced price as a result of the budget changes.

Budget Provides Duty-Free Entry Of War Trophies

OTTAWA, June 27.—(CP)—Soldiers, sailors and airmen who may bring home trophies from battlefields had a place in the tariff changes, Finance Minister Iley proposed in his budget last night.

Amendments to the tariff provide for duty-free entry of trophies of war defined as "arms, military stores, munitions of war and other articles" to come under the provision they will be retained for use in museums or for other purposes.

Four-Hit Barrage in Eighth Gives Dodgers Two-Run Margin

Bud" Cowan Wins Aircraft Repair Golf Tournament

Tommy Brant Chalks Up Fourth Win

Overthrow at Second Costs Pats Victory

THAT rush which lifted Signallers from quarters in the basement up to a tie for the runner-up spot in the senior ball loop, was stymied at least temporarily by Dodgers last night, but Chuck's Hendersonians had a job on their hands before the flagging operations could be considered complete.

Still hot as a firecracker, the U.S. communication lads blasted out 13 hits, a new record for the club, and until the Dodgers dumped four singles in the eighth for a two-run lead, looked just about an even bet to come up with another win, which would have been their fifth straight.

Dodgers have a heavy schedule this week. They play Yanks to night and again on Thursday and will be guests of the Braves next Sunday afternoon's party in Fenway, making four games in seven days. They held a two-game lead over Yanks, now in second place.

SAVIER HAS 15 HITS
LESTER NELSON didn't do his batting average much damage last night when he left the field with three hits out of four trips. Sawyer's two for five raised his to .426, just five points below Mel Otten, who also had two for five.

Jim Junker checked in with a pair for a quartet of trios, but George Green left the park, with three for three, to make his figures to .353, and with the two walks scored from Jack Guthrie, leading the bases on balls parade with nine.

Ralph Johnson also had two for four and is now batting .345. Harry Baldwin struck out for the first time this season. Jim Anderson and Tommy Brant for a single, which gave him two for his last.

Hold Nine And Half Games Lead
St. Louis Cardinals

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Billy Southworth's St. Louis Cardinals today are soaring 92½ games above their June, 1943, pace, nine and a half games out in front of the pack and threatening to romp off with the National League flag at the earliest date in history.

With almost 1000 games to go before the current two-day trade deadline and the end of the major league campaign Oct. 1, the Red Birds head into a long haul against the eastern invaders with a substantial advantage.

Only New York Giants and Boston Braves have given the Cardinals any trouble this season, and only Boston with a 14 edge holds a lead in games.

Southworth, St. Louis's ace, has a 4-3 shadow over the Giants and has mounded 10 wins and 11 shutouts at various dates up to an 11-0 winning of Chicago.

A year ago St. Louis held a slender one-half game lead over Brooklyn Dodgers, who passed them two days later, but faded into third place, finishing 27½ games away, as the Cards topped runner-up Cincinnati 18½ lengths.

Cincinnati and St. Louis are co-holders of early pennant clinching honors in the National. The date is Sept. 16. For the Reds it was 1919. For the Cards, 1918. During World War I, Chicago mailed down the flag on Aug. 28, but the Sox was called out by Labor Day, Pittsburgh made it sure on Sept. 1, 1902, but that was over the 140 game rule as compared with the present day 154 game schedule.

George Mauer, the league's leading pitcher who has won 10 and is now only taking his last seven in a row, is leaving for active duty in the armed service and outfielder Stan Musial and others may be called before October, but the Cards still outclass the field.

High Flier
CHUCK HENDERSON, son of the Boston Red Sox, is the only pitcher in the National League who has won 10 and is now only taking his last seven in a row, is leaving for active duty in the armed service and outfielder Stan Musial and others may be called before October, but the Cards still outclass the field.

Cowan whipped through a swift score at the Edmond Golf and Country Club Sunday afternoon to top first place in the Aircraft Repair tournament with a low net score of 69.

Cowan ended the 18th hole with a gross of 53 strokes. Due to a handicap his score was brought down to a net 69. Finishing in second place was F. L. D. McElroy, who finished in the first 18 holes with a net of 70.

George Green, right, and Al Superstein, left, combined with Pitcher Tommy Brant in manufacturing the winning run for Dodgers against U.S. Signals at Renfrew Park Monday night. Superstein opened the eighth with a hit to center field, and Green followed with a sacrifice bunt. Brant then pitched a hot one off second baseman Bert Culver and Superstein raced home with the clincher.

Dave Brockie also hit safely and Mel Otten's drive to center field from second won the game, raising the count to 6-4. Nelson drove out both Harry Baldwin and Ralph Morgan at first to end the rally.

Walk-Rite "B" Team Loses To Bomberettes by Score 5-3

Bomberettes came from behind in the City Girls' Fastball League curtain-raiser at Kingsway Park Monday night to overcome Walk-Rite "B" 5-3 in a closely played game that saw the losers held scoreless from the end of the opening inning.

Bomberettes scored two and Walk-Rites three in the first inning, but the winners lightened up in the second and the losers were unable to increase their score while Dick Trippel's club added one in the second to tie it.

Triple Threat

NEW YORK, June 27.—East Side, West Side, and all around the town—Gotham's love in the Yankees blossomed again Monday as Joe McCarthy and his revivified pennant-defenders returned to the city for a long home stand.

These hopes sprouted from the fact that the third-place Yankees won six of their last seven games, and that pitcher Einarson, who had been returned to form, pitched the leading St. Louis Browns and second-place Chicago White Sox are starting races.

The Yankees open their home stand Wednesday, starting with the Browns. From then through July 9, the McCarthy men will have 14 games against western invaders. After time-out for the all-star game at Pittsburgh, July 11, the Yankees entertain Boston for four stadium evenings, before swinging into the west July 17.

WILL REGAIN LEADERSHIP?
YANKEE admirers are confident that the New York club, which only four-and-a-half games behind the leading Browns will regain first place before they make their next trip into the midlands.

During the past week, they played the brand of ball customary for Yankees teams, climbing to the top by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Athletics of Philadelphia Sunday. Six victories in seven starts, including a heartening come-back, induced a club that had made perfect the worst showing in McCarthy's regime as they lost 17 of the 22 games preceding June 23. They were in seventh place, once, and mediocre performance of other clubs prevented them from dropping deep into the cellar. Several of an inept outfield and a floundering mound staff.

BOOK ON NEW LIFE
The club took on new life, pitching improved and the hitting picked up. The outfield showed to have straightened out; Johnny Lindell and Bud Lett improved all around at the plate. Meanwhile the new left field acquisition, Herschel Martin, pitched and appeared in his three games and averts his face to a steady job. Since he is a switch-hitter.

Tuck Stachura, who was hit by a 400 before suffering a broken leg, may get his action in a week or so. He probably will be used in place of Melnyk in right when the opposition starts a so-called "hot" game.

For manager McCarthy, the most troubling event in the club's rebound must have been Tim Lincecum's pitching victory over Bobo Newsom and two Philadelphia mound mates in Sunday's nightcap. Big Bonham, the forked-bell pitcher who had been on the injury list since June 2nd, may find the key to another Yankee triumph in the current campaign.

Horse Vehicles

To Transport Fans
VANCOUVER, June 27.—(CP)—Horse-drawn carriages, horse-drawn bays and horse-drawn wagons will transport spectators to the two-mile stretch from Marpole to Lansdowne Park in suburban Vancouver this year, it was announced Monday.

Since the transit controller has barred the running of special trains to the race track, S. W. Randall, racing association head, has hired 15 teams of horses to haul the wagons for the afternoon hayrides. The Vancouver train travel as far as Marpole.

Races at Lansdowne Park open July 1.

What's Wrong With the Cubs?

Cellar-Dwellers Refuse Deals

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, June 27.—What's wrong with the Cubs?

That was the question which the Chicago club was losing 10 straight under Jimmy Wilson. So Philip K. Wrigley fired the manager.

Owner Wrigley brought back Charles Grimm, one of the more popular players, but the results were the same. The Bruins' back into cellar, losing after winning seven straight.

Not a few competent players picked the Cubs to win the National League pennant while they were freezing at French Park. They had more than a full share of wartime holdovers: Merrille, Paez, Erickson, Hanzewsky, Wyse, Carretta, Stanky, Merrill, Nicholson, Delmonico, and others.

Yet here they are floundering in the dark confines of the cellar with the worst record in either league. The Cubs have sufficient pitching, four catchers, seven infielders and six outfielders, yet Jimmy Gallagher refuses to trade.

MELTON FOR STANKY NIX!
Stanky, a clever infielder, whom practically every other club wants, is rusting on the bench. Don Johnson is slightly satisfied at second base, but despite this fact General Manager Gallagher declines to trade Stanky.

So when the Cubs hit Ebbets Field, the Gastonia Inventor shot the ball five feet. Meanwhile, Eddie Blalock, from the campus of the University of Buffalo, plugged the Dodger's hole at second base.

Gallagher refuses to get anything out of or for the overvalued bench warmer, Lou Novickoff, simply because Owner Wrigley took $80,000 out of one pocket and put it in another in the deal that brought the former owner from Los Angeles.

Gallagher at last broke down and offered the Braves the Mad Bull, Lou Novickoff, for $25,000 and $25,000 for Al Javery, who can curve a ball around your neck.

PAKFO IN CENTRE AT LAST
Old Bob Kunking, knowing what he had and having a splendid idea of what he wanted, was acquiring, wisely decided that, as tough as things looked, he would buy financially and in the way of manpower, the club didn't need $25,000 quite that badly.

Grimm alternated young Andy Pafko with the Sauer in the outfield for a time, finally got around to employing the former regularly in centre. Billy Southworth of the Cardinals calls Pafko the rookie that badly.

For ordered him to limit himself to smoking three cigars a day, where upon the multi-millionaire put in a supply of Havana each the size of a young baseball bat. It was an all-day task for three of these men, and Gates chuckled over his cunning in obeying the letter of the medicine's orders without denial to himself.

Plunger to the end, John W. Gates stated his life against the physician's diagnosis, and for once outwitted himself. The doctor was right. Gates died in 1911 at 58.

"I guess you win, Doc," he said, Betcher Million Gates paid off the greatest wage of his meteoric and spectacular career with characteristic nonchalance.

Card Executive Resigns His Post
ST. LOUIS, June 27.—(AP)—Joe Mathes, veteran manager of the St. Louis Cardinals' organization, will look after all the club's business affairs for the time being, following the resignation of Dudley Dyer as a Cardinal executive. Dyer will enter the oil business at Houston, Tex.

The City of Depege, France, exulted in what, they felt, was a non-chalant hero who played poker and bridge as a hobby for pennies as for stakes running into tens of thousands.

Despite manifold business activities, Gates found time to indulge in more than one sport. He liked to golf, was a crack cyclist and live pigeon shot.

A hearty jovial man with a keen eye and full moustache, he told a good story. Well-told, he exuded prosperity. He possessed an uncanny insight into human nature, reduced everything to mathematical relations.

Gates answered the nickname, Betcher Million. He and John A. Drake, another player, were in a friendly argument in the old Waldorf-Astoria bar.

"Betcher million, dude was wrong," challenged Gates, "Duke was not to accept the challenge when a friend tipped him by a wink that he was in error. So the biggest single wager between two men never materialized. But Gates gained a sobriquet that was destined to follow him to the grave and linger over after."

John W. Gates was born on an Illinois farm in 1853 of well-to-do but not wealthy American pioneer stock.

At 21 Gates married Della Baker, belle of St. Charles, Ill., whose father lent his son-in-law $17,500. That was all Gates ever had in the way of financial help. At 50 he was worth $100,000,000. His fortune flowed on barbed wire, he became a tycoon in steel, railroads and oil.

Gates Played as Avidly For Pennies as Big Stakes

By NED BROWN

NEW YORK, June 27.—John W. Gates was an inordinate gambler, dated a poker, would back his opinion on anything with odds of cash, yet knew when to stop. Where other plungers were prone to overbet, Betcher Million Gates was quick to sense when to pull out. Loading bets of $25,000 and $50,000 to bookmaker John Ullman, Gates calculated: "Betcher $100,000 on Deshaibale." The mare was 7 to 10.

There were only four other starters.

"I'll lay you $60,000 to $100,000," Ullman demurred.

While they bagged, the horses were off. Deshaibale finished last in the current campaign.

"Piker," shouted Gates. Gates was in England in 1909 when the Ascot Gold Cup meeting a jokey mention of the horse.

Gates went to the races and shocked King booksies.

Seven and Dreyer's Deceit, Tuck (1) and Semmler.

$1000 ON A RAINPOD
Sitting in a hotel room with friends on a rainy day, Gates staked himself by betting $1,000 at a clip on which rainpods would slither to the bottom of the window first.

Gambling with Gates was not a vice. It was an outlet—quicker, more compact and dramatic than the slow-moving, responsible operation of big-business finance. He rejoiced vaingloriously when he won, no matter how small the amount or at what. He was a non-chalant hero who played poker and bridge as a hobby for pennies as for stakes running into tens of thousands.

Despite manifold business activities, Gates found time to indulge in more than one sport. He liked to golf, was a crack cyclist and live pigeon shot.

Allied Troops Take Japanese Mogaung Base

Edmonton Bulletin

CHUNGKING, June 27—Allied troops have completed the occupation of Mogaung, former Japanese stronghold on the Myittha-
Menday, salient in northern

Burma, a communique announced today.

The top, second Japanese Mogaung valley base to fall in a week, was captured yesterday by Chinese troops and Gurkha and British units of Maj. Gen. W. D. A. Lentaing's air borne Chindits.

Occupation of Mogaung, 35 miles east of embattled Myitkyina, climaxed a bitter three day battle in which the Allied forces supported by American fighter-bombers, encircled the Japanese forces and attacked from the south and east.

The communique described the town as a focal Japanese base which had served as the supply centre for the entire enemy campaigns in the Mogaung and Hukawng valleys.

ENEMY TRAPPED

The encircling thrust into Mo-

gaung trapped a large Japanese force along the 20-mile main road

Northward to Kamaing, which fell last week, and the communique said Chinese troops moving south from Kamaing were "steadily destroying" the isolated enemy units.

East of Mogaung, American troops from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's force, advanced another 100 yards in their drive through Myitkyina to near a junction with the Chinese forging through the western section of the town. Lend-Lease Chindits also were attacking the important road and railway

Bitter fighting was reported in China's Yunnan province, east of the Burma frontier, where Chinese troops cut the old Burma road eight miles southwest of Lungling and battled strong Japanese forces south of Lungling.

World News Highlights Presented in Picture Form

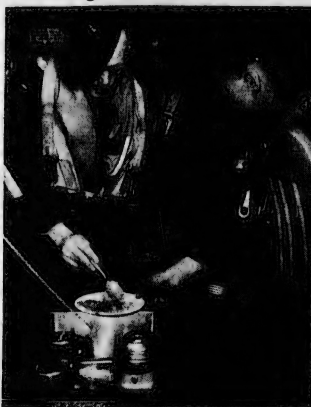

Celebration at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Champion drum majorette of New York state, Kay Vagnossi of Niagara Falls, N.Y., flashes a smile to Canadian sailors during the annual Magna Carta celebration parade, at Niagara Falls.

John Bull and Uncle Sam, of post 57, Toronto, met before the celebration in the interests of the fifth U.S. war bond drive. At the left are Charlie Blandford and Norman Coward. Over 10,000 took part in the celebration.

Brings Hot Meals to Fliers

Flying men of the R.C.A.F. who guard convoys for long hours at sea in aircraft not provided with cook's galleys now can get hot meals as a result of a new metal food cabinet designed by the Air Force engineering and medical branches. The Flight Sergeant and Sergeant (shown above) are helping themselves to a tempting meal kept hot in the cabinet. The box is plugged into the aircraft electrical circuit and the food, prepared on the ground, can be kept hot indefinitely. As shown in the other picture, deep metal dishes carry the food and a removable grid presents shifting of the containers. The thermos bottles hold the liquids, soup, tea or coffee. Two smaller boxes carry all the required foods that need not be heated. There is enough space for two complete meals for nine men. On long patrol flights or on other extended operations hot meals from the cabinet will ease strain and raise flagging spirits.

Wearry Hun Prisoners

Hollow-eyed from months of pounding by the Allied air offensive, German prisoners taken when the Allies breached the beach defences on the French coast set foot on English soil from a landing craft which wasn't one of their own.

25,802 Residents Are X-Rayed By Tuberculosis Association

At the annual meeting of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association held in Calgary on Sunday, it was announced by President-elect R. W. Roscoe that 25,802 residents of Alberta had been X-rayed by the Association's mobile chest X-ray clinic under the direction of the department of health in 1943.

Present at the meeting were delegates from the eight Christmas Seal committees, and visitors from the Central Alberta Sanatorium, Dr. A. Somerville, director of the division of communicable diseases, and Dr. G. R. Johnson, president of the Alberta Medical Association.

Dr. G. R. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, addressed the gathering and commended the work being done by the association. He was the agency by which the tuberculosis could be eradicated.

Dr. Wherrett congratulated the A.T.A. on the results of the Christmas Seal drive and announced that the percentage increase over 1942-43 was the highest in all Canada, being 72 per cent.

SAVES TAX
Dr. A. H. Baker gave tuberculosis statistics and said that the chest x-ray, which had been in use since the first three years of the war, was now declining. He said the department of health appreciated the work of the association in the early diagnosis of the disease, and made highly of the attention given to patients through occupational therapy and vocational training.

Dr. W. R. Somerville attended the meeting as representative of the W. R. Somerville ministry of health, which he regretted his inability to attend. Dr. Somerville brought a message of congratulatory thanks to the association from Dr. Cross. He said the rehabilitation of patients was a most valuable work.

Reports of the president, secretary, treasurer and general secretary were approved. A message of sympathy and good wishes for recovery were sent to W. B. Way, president, whose attendance was prevented by illness.

Mr. Roscoe thanked the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs for their efforts, and paid tribute to the press and the radio for their considerable help. He said that the Christmas Seal sale of 1943-44 raised over $40,000 and that $25,000 would be used to buy another mobile chest X-ray clinic, which will be in operation by next fall.

His Honor, Lt.-Gov. C. B. Cowie, was elected honorary president, and Dr. W. W. Macdonald, attorney-at-law, was elected honorary vice-president. The executive was enlarged to include the immediate president, in tribute to W. B. Way for his many years of devoted service. Vice-presidents elected were R. W. Roscoe, president; T. L. Ferguson, Leithbridge; H. V. Brock, Drumheller; secretary, Eric Connolly; Calgary, treasurer, Directors are: Egan, Calgary; and E. C. Shaughnessy, Edmonton.

Library Concerts Poorly Attended
Poor attendance at some of the musical concerts held in the Public Library is due to lack of publicity. It was decided at the board meeting Monday evening, during the summer adjournment it has been decided that the music committee should use every means to publicize these concerts. The total attendance since they began is 20,116. It has been suggested that the Sunday concerts be discontinued during the summer.

City Squadron Fund Nearing Objective
The City of Edmonton Squadron Fund is now $2,500 short of its $5,000 objective, and committee members are working hard to raise the drive for funds and make a contribution.

Funds will be used to make life a little more pleasant and comfortable for the men of the squadron officially adopted by the City of Edmonton.

Several donations from local business firms were received at campaign headquarters Tuesday. Among them: W. L. Wilson Ltd., 4109, Pickerington Road, Ltd., 325, and Albert Electrical Supplies, 825.

Subscriptions to the fund may be mailed or taken to any chartered bank, the city treasurer, Civic Block, or Mike's News Stand.
